BELIEVE IDENTITY OF WOMAN KNOWN

Is Wife of Pueblo, Colo., Saloon Keeper.

To Be Identified Today; Examined By Physicians as to Her Sanity.

At last it is believed that the identity of the young woman known as Effie Wright, who was taken from a Southern Pacific train in this city recently in a demented condition, has been learned.

According to a local man who formerly lived in Pueblo, Colo., the woman's right name is Effie Allen, and she is the wife of Arthur Allen, proprietor of three saloons in Pueblo, where it is understood she has a sister-in-law, Marie Brown. Marie Brown stated over the telephone last night that Mrs. Allen's trunk was in the depot as yet unclaimed, owing to the fact that the checks are missing.

If this woman is Mrs. Effie Allen, she is a cousin by marriage to John W. Jones, proprietor of the People's Theater in this city. Jones has been making inquiries about her, but as yet cannot positively identify her, as he states he does not know her by sight. Positive identification will not be made possible until the arrival of Marie Brown from Bakersfield. She has stated that she knows Effie Allen and was waiting for her. It was through the newspapers that she came to learn that possibly she might be in Fresno.

The continual reference to some murder was made clear yesterday by the party who told the identity of Mrs. Allen. He stated that about five years ago a negro shot and killed a man by the name of David Allen, a brother of Harry Allen, and wounded Harry Allen in Pueblo.

According to all information which has been received in Fresno, Mrs. Allen was all right when she left Pueblo, and no one can account for her strange condition upon her arrival in this city. Drs. Cowan and Russell made a medical examination yesterday afternoon to ascertain the mental condition of the young woman, Effie Wright, as she called herself. The complaint to have her committed was sworn to by Dr. Bland of the county hospital that she threatens bodily injury to herself.

The young woman was in charge of a hospital nurse, who seemed to be the only one that could exercise control over her. The patient stated that she is a native of Kentucky, aged 24 years. Not very lucid information was obtained from her in connected statements. She was apparently suffering from a complete nervous breakdown, was restless and excited, making grimaces and motions and tugging constantly at her disheveled hair and the gauze fascinator which she wore. At frequent times she made reasonable responses to inquiries, but on the whole was unable at the inquiry to make intelligent replies, apparently having a lapse of memory up to a particular point.

She insisted that she came from Louisville, Ky., has been in California for four years, yet so far as the information regarding her went was known to be traveling to Bakersfield from Pueblo. Her memory failed her when it came to tell where she came from. Her present attack dates from the 30th of last month so far as known, and Dr. Bland says that while he has watched her actions for hours he does not believe that her condition is the result of drugging, because if it had been there would have been some change in this time, whereas the fact is that she is under the same nervous strain and excitement as when brought to the hospital.

Her faulty memory may be the result of the long loss of sleep, and yet she has hallucinations of night in beholding strangers and in the fear that some one may melt an arm off. The commitment in her case was withheld until this forenoon, because of the lack of information of the coming from Bakersfield of a sister or sister-in-law. If a relative, and willing to take charge of the young woman, she will be surrendered to her willingly; if not the commitment will be executed and she will be taken to the asylum.

"It was stated that the young woman will not eat and has almost starved herself at the hospital. One thing that she has insisted upon with clock-like regularity during her sojourn at the hospital has been the daily bath. She stated yesterday that her vacation is that of a domestic."

In two very spirited debates before the High School Senate last night the following questions were discussed: Should the cutting of forests, privately or publicly owned, and "Resolved, That a more practical course be established in the High School for the benefit of the rising generation."

Hunter of Minnesota and Henton of Tennessee upheld the affirmative side of the first question while Paterson of Kansas and McFarland of Louisiana defended the cutting of forests by private interests. The question was lost.

Ed Fast took the obligation and drew the state of Wisconsin.

Because they are alleged to have struck Charles Walker the fare without any provocation, Tom Dudley and Arthur Jacobson, hack drivers, were arrested last night by Officer Knight and cited to appear in court this morning to answer to a charge of battery.

Featherstone and Herman Planned to Leave Selma on Day of Arrest.

SELMA, Nov. 5.—Evidence continues to pile up against Herman and Featherstone, the two men who posed here as photographers, but who now appear to have been members of a gang that made a business of theft.

Constable Campbell of this place and Constable Mason of Fowler today discovered a cache of stolen goods in the country, and brought in an automobile load to add to the goods previously recovered. The goods discovered today were important, in that they not only connect Herman and Featherstone with new misdemeanors but confirm confessions of the men which implicate others in their plans.

That the arrest of the pair was timely is certain, as they had evidently planned to leave the county the day on which they were arrested. The men had arranged for a horse and rig, saying they would be gone for a three weeks' trip, and the manner in which their goods were packed indicated that the trip was to carry them to a strange section where they could dispose of their stolen wares. Even this early in the game they had made overtures to trade their horse, which would seem to indicate that they did not intend to return with the outfit they had hired.

The goods found today included five sacks of new harness, and the eagerness with which the men stole goods was indicated by the fact that they took some harness before it had been completed by the harness maker. Several buggy robes were also among the goods.

The officers now have possession of several new and important facts and tomorrow will doubtless bring additional evidence to light.

NEW OIL COMPANY SECURES PROPERTY

The Coalings Twelve Oil Company has purchased from the Elaine Oil Company thirty-four acres in the northeast corner of section 12-21-14, this property being a little over one-half mile from the Marion on one side and less than one-half mile from the Fifty-Seven Oil Company. The directors are Z. L. Phelps, Arthur E. Webb, R. T. Peeler, Daniel Finn, John Mills, W. J. Ochs and Edward A. Webb.

A. V. Briscoe of Redley is a guest at the Sequoia.

SAND CREEK ROAD TENDERS HELD UP

Discovery Made of New Southern Hill-Top Route.

Survey for Eight Miles Will Retard Commencing on Building Work.

No contract will be awarded next Monday afternoon by the supervisors on the bids to construct the Sand Creek mountain road according to the adopted surveyed route of Surveyor McKay. The reason for this is that no survey has been made of the route yesterday to the board in behalf of the people at the mountain end of the road, represented by G. B. Tibbets, Charles Neff and H. B. Blackburn.

The proposition was a doubtful one. The flag was to abandon about eight miles of McKay's surveyed route at the upper end from White's Pass to Millwood, or, to be more specific, to Hitchcock's orchard, namely from section 23-14-25 to 22 and 27-14-27. They would substitute for this surveyed route another newly discovered one on the rugged south, claiming that the substituted route would be about one and a half miles shorter, though they made no particular point on this score, but asserting that a saving of about $5000 could be made with the selection of the new route.

This new route, they said, would be a place where a grade of 4 per cent and would open up a new and populated country, while the road along the line would pass some of the finest apple orchards in the county. Moreover no difficult or costly construction obstacles would be met with on this more southern route.

As regards the McKay route, they said it traversed an uninhabited region, at one place a 1000-foot bank of rock would have to be cut and blasted away and three bridges would have to be built to cross canyons. The southern route, they claimed, would be a road of rock, gravel and light building, a road costing less to build and less to maintain. If a survey is ordered, and the costliness of this work has been the thick brush that had to be removed before the survey could cut his finger, the mountain people would offer to do the brush clearing and save the county that much of the cost.

The other proposition was to abandon the two-mile rocky southeast survey to the junction point and change the course northeast through section 23, giving a closer connection with Hart's Mill and Millwood roads to Happy Gap. Through sections 23 and 26 a road of three and a quarter miles, partly in existence, could be constructed at much less cost towards Happy Gap than the two miles of road over rocky ground to the starting point of the McKay survey.

The second proposition was readily assented to by the board. Surveyor McKay stated that he never did favor the two miles log-off survey on a course which ran away from everything that they were trying to go to make connection with the Millwood road, Happy Gap, Geo. Grant Park and state highway to the Kings River canyon.

With reference to the southern route to branch off from the Hitchcock orchard, the board could not see how, at present it could stop action on the highway to the junction point. The board of contract will be delayed until the southern route survey is made and it is ascertained whether all the representations made in its behalf can be substantiated by that survey.

Surveyor McKay said he was favorable to the new movement and declared that with the assistance in the brush clearing by the advance guard the survey could be made in about one week. He had only to complete the people interested in the Sand Creek road, and especially T. L. Reed, who has been over every part of the country on foot as well as on horse, should not have pointed out to him this hill-top road, especially as the invited the assistance of interested parties in printing out to him the more desirable routes. They had left him to plan and pick out a road in an unknown mountainous region. This, he said, he had done as best he could and he had surveyed out a road at a place greater than a 4 per cent grade.

If the southern route should be chosen, the commencement of road construction work would be retarded about one month because there would have to be a new call for bids.

SOUVENIR MATINEE AT NOVELTY THIS AFTERNOON

This afternoon everyone who attends the Novelty Theater will be presented with a pretty souvenir. The idea of a souvenir matinee was inaugurated at the Novelty last week and it proved such a great success that Manager Weatherford has decided to continue the practice of giving his patrons presents on Saturday afternoons.

"The Spectators," full of fun, music and frolic, is the show this week, and with Mack as Blossom and Blossom with Mack and Mack as Blossom and Blossom, would be spectators in Wall Street, the performance could not be made better. These two are comedians of ability and they are afforded ample opportunity to manufacture laughs from the plot of "The Spectators."

Miss Maude Beatty, the prima donna of the company, is soon to be replaced by Miss Reine, and her song, "The Blues-Blues," is enthusiastically received.

Tom Moore and Stasia, for the past two years the most expensive act on the Sullivan Consenting circuit, have been especially engaged by the Hughes Novelty Comedy Company to appear at the Novelty Theater on next Monday night. These are the highest priced artists that have ever been brought into any musical stock company.

PLANNING TO HOLD AN OPEN MEETING

Monday Morning Session of Farmers' Union Convention to Be for General Public.

Unless there is some radical change in plans, the opening session of the state convention of the Farmers' Union will be a public session, presided over by President Barrett of the National Union. Just what will come up for discussion at this session is not known, but it is believed that the general working policy of the union will be explained to outsiders in the hope that they may be induced to join. The convention will go into executive session in the afternoon.

President Barrett will address a mass meeting of the farmers at 4 o'clock this afternoon, telling of the objects of the organization and its accomplishments thus far. ## KILLING CIRCUITS ON FIRE ALARMS

Power Co. Has 3 Men to Look After Wires.

Sub-Station Man Must Know Location Before Turning Off Current.

Mayor Rowell called yesterday on Manager Wisdon of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company to make some arrangement for the killing of live wires in the vicinity of a fire. The call was made because of the complaint to the fire commissioners by Fire Chief Intergate that his men have to cut the wires that his men have to cut.

Manager Wisdon gave the mayor assurance that live wires will be killed whenever the exact location of a fire is given to a sub-station operative, and stated furthermore that three operators of the company are with the fire department that it may have men to render intelligent aid in clearing circuits when the occasion demands it at a fire.

In regard to the specific complaint made by Fire Chief Whiteman the following explanatory correspondence in reply was submitted to the mayor:

Fresno, Cal., Nov. 5, 1909.

Dear Sir: The understanding between the city, electric and fire departments of Fresno and the San Joaquin Light and Power Company, regarding the handling of live wires during the progress of a fire or fighting same, is a matter of official record on the minute book at the city hall. This agreement states that the power company will "kill" any and all circuits covering the vicinity of the fire on telephone request of the city electrician or fire department. This agreement has been discussed at length between myself and the city electrician, and also a committee of the board of trustees, and also in open meeting of the whole board, and it was unanimously decided that it was the only practical and efficient method to use, the only other alternative being to "kill" the entire town for every fire alarm, which was dismissed as out of the question.

The alarm which sounded near midnight on November 3d, was for I and Kern streets, seven blocks from the box, and called for circuits off in the J-K alley. In this particular case the 2300 volt circuit burned down and opened an automatic switch in the sub-station before the alarm stopped sounding, and the operator immediately opened the other switch controlling this alley. There are no circuits in this alley from Tulare street to Vanam avenue and to the best knowledge of the operator everything in the alley indicated by the alarm was "dead."

A little later we had a "phone to kill" an arc circuit south of Ventura street. This was from our basement. A. B. H. was at the fire. We talked no official action with reference to these matters but we have allowed several of our employees to join the call list so that there could be no arc at the fire, who could render intelligent aid in clearing circuits when necessary.

At present A. B. Gordon and N. S. Cole are on the call list and E. R. Banks acts as assistant to the city electrician.

It is impossible for our operator to know the location of a fire from the alarm which comes in. For example, this same alarm came in a short time ago for a fire in the south end of Fresno town, in the P-K alley, near San Benito street, which was so far from the location of the fire engine nearest to the fire, did not go out. This all goes to show that the only way to handle this matter effectively is to get the exact location "phoned" to the sub-station as soon as possible, and by the city electrician, or some member of the fire department, and have the proper circuits "killed." We keep maps of the circuits at the station and the operator can "kill" everything necessary as soon as he is given the proper location.

Very truly yours,
SAN JOAQUIN LIGHT AND POWER CO.
E. J. Crawford, Superintendent

KAUKE'S OPINION IS NOT YET READY

At a meeting of the playgrounds committee held at the city hall yesterday, City Attorney Kauke stated that he was not in a position to give the proper time to render an opinion regarding the legality of leasing bonds for playgrounds. The meeting was devoted entirely to a discussion of bonds. The city attorney is now working on this matter and it is expected that within a very short time he will be able to give an opinion.

LET US BOAST

With the announcement that the present building is about to be more than doubled in size, and its plant and equipment greatly increased, the Republican is inclined to indulge in a bit of pardonable boasting.

Only six years ago the Republican erected its present pressed-brick building, 75x100 feet, two stories and basement, and made of it what was conceded to be the best newspaper building and plant in the interior of California. The Republican owns that building and all its contents, free of incumbrance of any sort, and has already, in only six years, so outgrown the building and the machinery it will contain that it is now necessary to build an addition, 75x150 feet, more than doubling the size of the building. The contemplated improvements, in building and plant, will involve an additional investment of at least $75,000, which would in itself be a considerable capital for most newspapers in towns of this size.

During the period of its recent growth, the Republican has survived five contemporaries—the Expositor, the Democrat, the Friar-Herald (Democratic), the Calkins-Herald (Republican), and the Union-Trust-Herald (railroad). The Expositor failed so utterly that there was nothing left even to go through bankruptcy; the Democrat was sold for the receiver for a song; the Friar-Herald was sold after its proprietor had sunk all the money he could afford to lose; the Calkins-Herald was given away by the referee in bankruptcy; and the Union-Trust-Herald is already a visible failure. Three bankruptcies and two failures, this is the record which the Republican's contemporaries have made in the same field, during the time that the Republican was building up from a struggling country daily to its present position. Surviving is only the Tribune, which is owned and supported by a big newspaper syndicate. So it is demonstrated that the field in which the Republican has succeeded is at least one in which it is possible to fail.

The pride of the Republican in this business success is due to the fact that it is not merely business success. Business success in a newspaper, is neither more nor less gratifying than business success in any other form of trade. But when that success is a demonstration of a cherished policy there is the additional satisfaction of vindication. The Republican has persistently done the things which many newspapers hesitate to do for fear the business loss will be greater than they could survive. The Republican has pursued an absolutely independent policy, in news and comment, influenced by neither fear nor favor, and in business policy it has insisted on absolute fairness as between patrons. It is one of the few newspapers that never "cuts rates" to a favored customer. Whatever rate one gets, any other can get the same rate, on the same terms. "Foreign advertisers" and local advertisers pay exactly the same rate. Also, the Republican has refused fraudulent, indecent and vicious advertising, to the extent of thousands of dollars yearly. It has refused to "stand in" on public printing and has insisted on doing public work at the same prices as private work. These are the business and editorial principles preached by all papers. The Republican has practiced them, and its main pride in its business success is in its demonstration that these policies can be made to succeed.

This is boasting, freely announced as such. We are frankly proud of the success of the Republican, and we want the people to know why.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

All business policy is based more or less on prophecy, with a prudent allowance for the chance of error. The greater the uncertainty, the greater the margin that must be allowed for contingencies.

Has not the time again come when we can predict the business future, for a reasonable time ahead, with only the normal margin of doubt? General conditions are on an up grade which can not soon be reversed by any calamity at all likely to happen. Our crazy financial system has once more readjusted itself by stripping its gears. Time enough has elapsed, since the last smash, to show that the process was complete, and experience shows that after such a readjustment the system continues to work, at least without breaking, for a considerable time. The next general smash is at least a few years, and perhaps many years ahead. Already, industrial conditions have been restored to normal, and a momentum of progress has been established which no merely accidental calamity can obstruct. Some big bank may be broken by somebody's crime; some city may be burned up; some war may break out somewhere, but these things can not stop or reverse the current. Up to the time when the misfit again reaches the breaking point (and the misfit system may be cured before then) the general business progress of the nation is now a fact.

Locally, even the general depression, followed by the demoralization of our own chief industry, had not been able to hold back the stream of prosperity. Business was good, we scarcely know why. But there was always an undertone of fear lest the strain on the grain market should finally overstrain all the rest. That fear is now removed. The rains are sold, or can be sold, at a price that will move the crop. When rains get into "strong winds," thus early in the season, they get sold, and go into consumption. So there will be the money in circulation this year for this year's raising, at a low price, with a certainty of better prices next year. All our other resources were in good shape already, and will remain so. The influx of Eastern colonists into California has been renewed, and the San Joaquin valley is in line to receive the greater portion of them. With increase of products, income and population, increase of business is inevitable.

All these conditions are now sufficiently fixed so that, for as long a distance in the future as business plans usually reckon with, they may be regarded as a certainty. This is one of the times to get ready to take advantage of prosperity; not merely to guard against adversity.

A BETTER DAY

The other day a Mississippi judge set aside a statute providing for agricultural High Schools, on the ground that the law specified that they were for "white youth" only and made no provision for similar education for colored youth. In Maryland, Tuesday, an amendment disfranchising negroes was defeated by the people. In Asheville, North Carolina, yesterday, a railroad contractor who forcibly detained negroes in his construction camps was fined $2,500 for perjury.

These are but incidents of the dawn of a better day in the relations of the races in the South. The better class of white people in the South have long realized that justice to the negro was the first requisite toward any satisfactory handling of the race problem. Not charity, nor kindness, nor tyranny and repression, but simple justice is the condition of peace. And in peace, all other matters can be settled. This, we say, the better class of white men have long known. But this better class of white men was not often in power. The Tillmans and the Vardamans, with their ignorant backing, misrepresented the best sentiment of that section, and complicated the problem indefinitely. Now the better thought is coming to its own, and with it a better day for both races.

FLOCKING ALOFT

They are breaking aeroplane records these days, going up thousands of feet and traveling hundreds of miles. Already the aeroplanes are far more efficient than the automobile was in the same stage of development. And, as an aerial automobile—not as a train or a ship—the aeroplane is a demonstrated and practical success.

How about the big airship? That is a success, too. But it has been estimated in Germany that 1500 aeroplanes can be constructed and equipped for the cost of one Zeppelin airship. These 1500 aeroplanes will carry 3000 passengers. The airship will not carry over 30. That is an advantage, a hundred to one, for the aeroplane. The Zeppelin airship is of course far cheaper than a battleship. But the aeroplane is cheaper than the paint on a warship. It is cheaper than a cheap automobile. Shall we see "flock evolutions" of the German army, soon, hovering over the North Sea? If so, we suggest that the tactics be limited from the wild geese, and that a "honker" be substituted for the cavalry bugle.

A STREET RAILWAY
CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—To assume the task of running a street railway system, acting as its president, manager, collector and "utility man" when her husband's death left the road on her hands, is what was done by Mrs. Currier Bahrenburg of Belvidere, Ill. Mrs. Bahrenburg, of her experience as captain of industry yesterday afternoon before the Chicago Woman's club, her address concluding a short series on "Woman's Ability To Do Man's Work."

GAME PROTECTION UP-STATE

Game protectors throughout the county ought to give more protection to the pheasants than the fine birds are now receiving. While there is no evidence that these birds are being slaughtered contrary to law, such is nevertheless a fact, as related by housewives and others who talk too much.
One farmer in South Lyons has become so disgusted in his attempt at protecting his flock that he has invited a number of sportsmen to visit his premises and clean out the whole lot. The pheasants are being shot and eaten either by pheasants or trespassers.—Wayne Democratic Press.

A PAINLESS DEATH

One morning a little girl raised her hand excitedly and pointed to a boy who seldom had clean hands.
"Teacher," she said, "look quick! Jimmie's thumb!"—Success Magazine.

WORLD'S GREATEST SULPHUR MINE

One of the strangest mines in the world is located underneath the prairie of Louisiana. In this mine there are no shafts. No one goes into it with pick and shovel, and they need no cutting machinery and no large lumps of water and compressed air to do all the work. From this mine more sulphur is taken than from any other place in the world, and as a result of its discovery the United States stands today as the greatest sulphur-producing country.

Here is the unique method of mining the sulphur: Boiling water is forced down the space between the 10 and 6-inch pipes, which turns the sulphur into a liquid, and this is sucked up to the top through the small pipes by compressed air, whence it flows by gravity into great vats. Some of these vats are 350 feet long, 250 feet wide and 40 feet in height. They are made of heavy plank, and as the sulphur flows into them it becomes a solid mass, like a lot of coal or iron ore. When it is desirable to move it, the sulphur is broken with hand picks and shoveled into cars like so much coal.

Some of the single wells actually produce 500 tons daily. This region now supports more sulphur than the world's use than the combined Italian volcanoes, from which formerly came the principal supply for all countries. And, while the Italian sulphur is about 50 per cent dirt and other foreign substances, the Louisiana product is 99 per cent pure.—From an Norden Magazine.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS FOR SMALL FARMER

It was Mr. Fairbanks, who declared to the people of Hawaii, after visiting their islands and studying the small farm question.

"I would like to see this American territory occupied by those whose blood is the blood that ran through the veins of our ancestors." This sentiment immediately found an echo in the White House and in the chambers of the Capitol.
The Federal government proposes at once to reclaim by irrigation some 100,000 acres in Hawaii, to be cut up into 5000 farms of 20 acres each, thus adding 25,000 American citizens to the population of the territory, of whom at least 50,000 will be voters. In addition to this area there are nearly 2,000,000 acres of land belonging to the territorial government, much of it leased out for varying terms in large tracts. Every year for a generation to come leases will expire on from 40,000 to 165,000 acres, which may be thrown open for settlement.—Alexander Humm Ford in Van Norden Magazine.

VACCINE METHOD CURES ANIMALS

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Oct. 27.—What is known as the Oponic treatment, discovered in England some 10 years ago and applied to humans in combating germ diseases, is now being used with equal success in treating lower animals. The veterinary department of the Colorado Agricultural College has successfully demonstrated, it is announced, that horses and sheep suffering from afflictions accompanied by suppuration are reached by the Oponic method.

The discovery was made thirty days ago, but kept secret, by Dr. B. F. Kaupp, pathologist, and Professor W. G. Sackett, bacteriologist, both connected with the college, and they have begun the manufacture of an anti-suppurative vaccine. Inoculation of animals suffering from fistula, pail evils or similar diseases produces fluid that weakens the disease germ and strengthens the white blood cells so that they can aid in the work of germ destruction.

It is claimed the discovery will revolutionize veterinary practice for certain germ diseases.

TRAVELING SAFE IN MEXICO.

"There is no country in the world where the stranger can travel in greater safety along the public highways than in Mexico," said James S. Sullivan, of Monterey, at the City Hotel.
"Once the country roads of that nation were infested by robbers, and a man who traversed them took his life in his hands. Many of these bandits who in old days delighted in the stand-and-deliver rackets, are now members of the rurales, a band of mounted rural police, which in the way of preserving law and order, has hardly an equal in any land."

The iron hand of Diaz has converted the brigands, who were once the terror of the traveler, into officers, and, thanks to their vigilance and loyalty, the tourist can so in even the most isolated parts of the republic without fear of molestation. In the large cities of Mexico, the robbery is a "tenderfoot" even in the sections inhabited by the lowest class, is as rare as it is common in the United States."—Baltimore American.

INTENSIVE FARMING IN MAINE

Question—Does farming pay?
Answer—Harold Dolton, an enterprising young farmer of Standish, has a piece of land of nine acres. Of this land this season he has grown sixty bushels of strawberries, cucumbers, beans, peas, tomatoes, sweet corn, and other early vegetables, enough to supply his own table and to furnish some for his neighbors. In addition to these he has raised 100 or more cabbages, 75 bushels of oats, 800 bushels of first-class marketable potatoes, and cut hay enough to winter two horses. To make the total look attractive, he planted a two-acre load of heads. These he will feed to his hens during the winter. No special effort was made in raising these crops, fertilizer being principally used.—Lewiston Journal.

BICYCLES AND AIRSHIPS.

One of the most striking facts about flying is the ease and quickness with which the art seems to be mastered under proper tuition. For example, Lieut. Lahn has been a pupil only three weeks, yet he made yesterday a flight for forty-five minutes, which only a little while ago would have been a record. Half an hour, says Wilbur Wright, is long enough to get the knack of the machine, but it is to the student that he does not feel quite so green as that shift for themselves.—The first stage seems not to be much more difficult or alarming than the mastery of the high bicycle of twenty years ago, which in the novice looked as high as a house. In fact, the well taught aeronaut seems to lose rather less cuticle during his apprenticeship than the oldtime bicyclist.—Springfield Republican.

BUILDING A REPUTATION.

Young physicians in the smaller towns have an idea that appearing very busy will help them greatly in starting a practice. The following is told by a senator, Dr. Godfrey Hunter, of Kentucky. Dr. Hunter and a friend, Dr. H. H. Hunter, were hanging out of their shingle, and started through town in his buggy at terrific speed. A policeman stopped the enterprising physician.
"Doctor," he said, "it is against the city ordinance that you drive at this speed. You must accompany me to the judge and pay your fine."
"What is the fine?" inquired the doctor.
"Five dollars," he said.
The doctor's hand flew to his pocket. "Here's the money to come back just as fast as I am going."—Success Magazine.

LOST ESKIMO TRIBES OF NORTHEASTERN GREENLAND

An account of the lost Eskimo tribes of the east coast of Greenland was printed recently in the Middle-leber organ of the Danish ethnological society. The author is Dr. W. Thalbitzer.

In 1818 Capt. Clavering was conducting a sledging expedition along the southwest side of the island now bearing his name, which is situated on the northeastern coast of Greenland off what is now known as Koenig Wilhelm Land. There his expedition encountered a party of twelve Eskimos. The natives who were with Clavering tried to talk to the strangers and to gain their confidence, but failed in any degree to make themselves understood. After the twelve had camped near Clavering's party for three days they disappeared and no further trace of them was found. That was the first time and the last that any white man has seen tribesmen of the now extinct ancient race of east Greenland Eskimos. Perhaps the most interesting fact about the lost tribes is a piece that has been culled in the swing of the centuries up in the frozen lands.

Ten years ago Lieut. G. Amstrup of the Danish navy, heading the Carlsberg expedition to east Greenland, made an exhaustive ethnological survey of the little-known Greenland coast from Ammassalik, at north latitude 65 degrees 20 minutes, to Sabine Island, 74 degrees 30 minutes. The fruits of this expedition comprised facts about the present day Eskimos of the southernmost Ammassalik district and the relics of the lost tribes who inhabited the coast over a stretch of 300 miles from the great fjord of Kangerlussuaq to Cape Brewster at the entrance to Scoresby Sound.

The ethnological objects which he brought back with him lay unstudied until at the beginning of this year Dr. W. Thalbitzer undertook to classify the collection brought back by Amstrup. The harpoon heads, needle cases, women's combs and children's toys, all are in the life of the tribes long antedating the first contact between the Europeans of medieval Iceland and the Eskimo of the lower Greenland tip. Great antiquity, how great the scientist cannot determine, marks the life of these peoples.

By the countless manifestations of originality in their handicrafts," says the author, "the objects of the collection testify that this northeastern group of Eskimos after having been isolated from the rest of mankind passed through a vigorous development of its own. Finally, the implements from this corner of Greenland we meet with certain features which point to a special continuity between the northern and southern culture of the

SIX ARE INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5.—An open switch caused the wreck tonight of east bound passenger train No. 2 on the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, at Wiloughby, twenty miles east of here. The train was full, but only six persons were injured, due to the fact that the train's speed was checked by plunging through the soft dirt beside the track.

Engineer Joseph Fritz and Fireman Charles Dineen were injured. Investigations showed that the switchlock had been tampered with. Engineer Fritz said that the switch lights showed a clear track ahead.
It was only a mile or two from Wiloughby, at Mentor, that the Twentieth Century Limited on the Lake Shore, wrecked five years ago under the same circumstances.

REPUBLICAN HOME TO BE ENLARGED

Building to Be Extended 75
Feet on K Street.

Will Run Back to Alley,
More Than Doubling
Present Space.

The Fresno Republican Publishing Company has sold to Mrs. H. C. Tupper the lots recently purchased by it on the corner of K and Kern streets, and has bought of Mrs. Tupper the three lots on K street immediately adjoining the present Republican building.

The Republican will proceed as soon as possible to erect a two-story building, 75x150 feet, continuous with the present building, thus more than doubling the size of the building. The business office of the paper will remain in its present location, but will be doubled in size, occupying the entire K street half of the present building. The new building will contain the job office and bindery, and the newspaper editorial, composing and press rooms. A new $25,000 four-deck newspaper press will be installed in the new building, and a new linotype, making seven in all, is expected to arrive this week. Other improvements will be added, to equip the Republican to handle its rapidly increasing business.

The new building will have an inner fire-proof, between the two buildings, and will be so constructed that two additional stories can be added at any time, over both buildings, thus making, ultimately, a four-story building practically 150 feet square, on the corner of K and Tulare streets.

The Healing Power of Pine

If you have ever taken a walk through a forest of pine trees you will remember how, almost unconsciously, the head was thrown back and lungs expanded as you inhaled with long, deep breaths the glorious pine-laden air. How invigorating it was—how healing!

The medicinal virtues of pine have been recognized in medical practice for many years. For coughs and colds, the mixture of two ounces of glycerine with a half-ounce of Virgin oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whiskey is highly recommended. It is claimed that a teaspoonful of this mixture, four times a day, will break a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. The ingredients are not expensive and can be bought in any good drug store. The genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure being put up for dispensing only by the Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati.

WOODS NOT KNOWN BY SAN DIEGANS

Picture Not Recognized By Southern Bankers.

P. F. Benson, Oakland Attorney, Has Interest in Check Case.

Thomas Woods is not recognized by the bankers of San Diego as one of the party which passed bad checks in that city several weeks ago. Information to this effect has been received in this city by Chief of Police Shaw from Chief of Police Wilson of San Diego. A picture of Woods, taken at the county jail and sent to San Diego, and it has been returned. The picture which A. T. Davis enclosed in his threatening letter written to Denver Church and the letter were sent to San Diego yesterday by the local police in order that the police may learn whether or not the picture is of the man by the name of Rayburn, who was supposed to have passed bad checks in San Diego in conjunction with Davis and Woods. An answer is expected in a very short time. District Attorney Church and Attorney Henry Brickley and W. D. Foote, who are interested locally in the Woods case, are very much mystified over the appearance last Saturday of P. F. Benson, an attorney of Oakland, who displayed a great deal of interest in the case.

Benson arrived in Fresno last Saturday morning and immediately sought to have a conversation with Woods, representing that he was interested in the case. Attorney Church refused to allow him to see the man, however, and Benson went to W. D. Foote.

"There is an air of mystery about Benson," said Foote yesterday. "and I think he was looking for a job." In his conversation with the district attorney, Benson mentioned the other two men who are supposed to be connected in this case, and Attorney Foote stated yesterday that he was inclined to believe that one of the other men had approached Benson and asked him to get in some work.

It was reported for several days that Benson was financing Woods' defense, but this was denied by Foote yesterday. "I think he really got some of the money," declared Foote.

URGES UNIONISTS TO PAY UP DUES

Secretary Suggests 2000 Members in Good Standing When Convention Begins.

B. N. Cooke, county secretary of the Fresno County Farmers' Union, is sending to local secretaries and members the following letter of the county union held in Fresno October 30, 1932. It was decided to elect twenty delegates to the state convention. The representation was elected on the basis of one delegate for every one hundred male members and majority fraction thereof who have been initiated in the Farmers' Union in this county. This was done in order to give the delegates time to pay up their dues in time for the state convention. When the first report is made and it is shown that not enough members are in good standing to allow us to have twenty delegates, those receiving the highest number of votes of the twenty will be declared our delegates. All are urged to pay up their dues as soon as possible. Let us see if we can have 2000 members in good standing by the 5th of this month. Local secretaries will please be prepared to turn over all dues paid by delinquent members to the secretary of the convention also to give the number of male members initiated in their local.

"Trusting that each and every member will feel that it is his special duty to make an extra effort along this line. I remain,

"Yours faithfully,

"B. N. COOKE,

"Co. Secy."

TOWNSITE ROAD GIVEN UP IN PART

The supervisors have authorized the abandonment of a 30-foot wide strip of land from the north line of D street to the north line of the townsite of Lorton. The townsite map of 1914 provided for such a public road around the town. On the east side there was such a strip from the northern line of D along the townsite east side to the north line for two blocks. In fact it has never been used as a road, is unnecessary for that purpose, as other roads and streets give access to all lands adjacent to the strip. The three petitioners owning the land on both sides of the strip have no use for the road and they asked that it be abandoned.

DEEDS OFFERED FOR A ROADWAY

Deeds have been offered to the supervisors by Camp No. 10,336 of the Modern Woodmen of America, also by the Santa Fe railroad, James Stark and other individual land owners for a 30-foot roadway from the townsite of Lorton to the Santa Fe station reservation, the latter so far as any map is concerned showing that it abuts right on the townsite. The strip is for a roadway along the easterly line of the reservation and along the westerly side of town block 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

WOMAN IS CAUGHT BY MARKED COINS

Caught in the act of stealing money from purses in the cloak room for the employees of Bowen's candy kitchen, Mrs. Lucile Beardsley, an employee of Bowen's, was arrested yesterday by Detective Freely and lodged in jail charged with petty larceny.

Mrs. Beardsley was caught with marked coins, which had been placed in a purse in the cloak room. The coins were in her possession even yesterday. For some time, the employees at Bowen's have reported that small amounts of money have been taken from their purses and Mrs. Beardsley has been suspected. Although no conclusive proof could be found.

The idea of marking coins was suggested and Mrs. Beardsley was caught after stealing 50 cents from a purse.

UNITARIAN PULPIT.

Was Jesus God, or Man?

Was Jesus, the Nazarene, carpenter, "very God of very God," as the old creed put it? When Mary held her first-born Maker and the Creator of the universe? Did God walk the dusty roads of Palestine footsore, weary, hungry? Did God in Gethsemane pray to Himself in such agony that his sweat was drops of blood? Or was Jesus a great religious genius, born as all other children are born, living his life as all other men must live theirs, and meeting death as all men must?

These are some of the questions I will discuss in my lecture Sunday evening, in the Parlor Lecture Club hall, 1354 K street. I will also give a brief prelude on "How the Gospels Grew." In which I will give some facts in regard to the sources of our knowledge of this great Teacher.

S.S.S. THE ONLY REMEDY FOR BLOOD POISON

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer, so insignificant that often no attention is given it. But when the blood becomes more fully infected with the virus the mouth and throat get sore, glands in the neck and groin swell, and sometimes ulcerate, forming sores and ulcers, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the body, and where the disease is allowed to remain in the system the poison frequently penetrates deeper and attacks the bones. S.S.S. is the true antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the only remedy that is able to get at the very root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus from the circulation; at the same time S.S.S. acts with upbuilding and tonic effect on every portion of the system. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S.S.S. the symptoms begin to disappear and soon a perfect cure is made. S.S.S. can be used in the privacy of one's own home and a permanent cure effected. To aid those who wish to cure themselves at home we have prepared a special Home Treatment book which contains much valuable information to Contagious Blood Poison Sufferers. With the aid of this book and the use of S.S.S. a cure can be effected in every case. We will send this book, and also any medical advice desired free to all who write.

Cliff Metcalf, Driver, Cut Severely.

Ralph Applegate of Fresno Fined $10 for Autoing on Madera Sidewalk.

MADERA, Nov. 5.—Cliff Metcalf was seriously cut on a barb wire fence this morning while riding in an auto with J. Horn. They were coming back from Borden when the steering gear caught in some manner and Horn lost control of the machine, which ran through a barbed wire fence. The barbed wire tore Metcalf's clothing, giving him some severe cuts on the arms and hands, and scratching his neck. Horn escaped without injury.

RAISINS PILE INTO THE GIFFEN PLANT

Scene of Great Activity at Fowler.

Citizens Proud That Townsman Broke Up Lid-Warming Combine.

FOWLER, Nov. 5.—Anyone having doubts about there being raisins for delivery can have them pointed by standing in sight of the packing house of L. E. Giffen & Co. for a while any day. Six large wagons were in line there today waiting opportunity to be loaded, and five more were met between them and the bank corner. Nor are the other packing houses idle; each is making regular shipments and the crews are having their hands full to keep up with the procession. Growers here are pleased that it was through the efforts of one of their own townsman that the ruinous clique, those sitting on the lid of the market and holding it down, met with disaster and had their plans sent a-glimmering.

Persons having business with the First National Bank here have been pleased to note the improvements recently made in their banking room. It is more attractive than ever and more convenient for the officials and employees.

The committee in charge of making up the schedule of winter entertainments financed by the Recreation Club, met in the Men's Club rooms and courted to play the billiard game. The standard of play will be fully equalled this winter.

The annual meeting of the Men's Club will be held in their rooms Tuesday evening, November 9th, at 8 o'clock.

The Western Union telegraph office has been moved from the depot to Lesh's drug store.

The football boys anticipate an active winter and belts decorated with their opponents' names. It is to be hoped that when they have opportunity to play they will not be handicapped by some of the "rotters" present, as the last baseball game here.

Adam Nelson of Fresno has been here this week changing the billiard table of the Men's Club into a pool table. The new table is better accommodated to the increasing number of players in those rooms.

The Christian church will give its annual Harvest Home social Friday evening. A varied and pleasing program will be presented and refreshments will be served.

Rev. H. A. Morgan, who has been pastor of the Christian church here, has accepted a call to San Diego, and with his wife has moved to that place.

A meeting was held Wednesday evening to take steps for organizing a co-operative store—not to be incorporated.

Fred Buckland has returned to San Francisco.

Harry Smith and wife have returned from a two months' visit with friends in Ohio and other Eastern states, and are satisfied with California.

Rev. J. L. Mathews has resigned as pastor of the Baptist church here. He and his family have been very active in promoting everything promising to be of good for the community, and will be greatly missed.

RATHER WILD.

"Your boy was just a little—er—wild when he was at college, wasn't he?"

TO WAGE WAR ON GROUND SQUIRREL

Tulare County Supervisors to Take Action.

May Increase Bounty One Cent and Reduce Price of Poison.

VISALIA, Nov. 5.—The supervisors of this county propose to take active steps looking toward eradication of the ground squirrel pest.

Through an enactment of the last legislature it is possible to compel the killing of rodents and the board proposes to make the destruction general. By the provisions of the enactment inspectors of the board of health of the state or county may invade any premises to make war on rats or squirrels, where the owner has been inactive or declined to assist, and the cost is charged as a lien against the property.

An active board of health with an inspector or inspectors sufficiently paid will work wonders, it is believed, in eradicating the pests.

The board spent some time in a discussion of the matter this afternoon just before adjournment. The opinion was expressed that an increase in the bounty from three to four cents and the selling of poison at half price would facilitate the work.

The greatest incentive to squirrel poisoning hereafter will be the fact that neighbors' squirrels are also to be killed. Hundreds of dollars have been expended by owners to get rid of rodents, to have their properties repopulated from neighbors' lands whose owners refused to co-operate.

The fact that ground squirrels may carry infection such as the plague, coupled with the claim that many squirrels infected have been killed in near-by counties, it is believed will aid to the zeal for their extermination.

Visalia Mayor N. S. G. W. is preparing to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the order with a more than elaborate grand ball on New Year's eve. A committee consisting of Simon Levy, M. M. Maddox, H. C. Lacey, B. B. Rudley and E. R. Grant has been named to take general charge.

Louis Maltre, twirler of the Miracles, has purchased the interest of Earl Liscomb in the Liscomb Brothers' pool hall and will remain in Visalia.

Dr. T. O. McSwain of this city, is reported in a critical condition in San Francisco. He returned to Visalia several weeks ago after an extended stay in San Francisco, and was believed on the road to recovery. He left again to undergo further treatment and sustained a relapse. He is afflicted with kidney and liver troubles.

The foundation has been laid for the parish house being erected by the Episcopal church in connection with its church building at Center street and rushed in the hope that it may be completed before the holidays.

Ernest Miller, son of Senator E. O. Miller, the well known baseball player, has purchased a Buick White Streak and will use it in making trips between this city and Porterville, near where he will soon begin the planting of an orange orchard.

Secretary A. E. Allet of the board of trade has received a communication from J. A. Fitcher, state commissioner to the Seattle exposition, advising him that the Tulare county exhibit left Seattle on October 31st, being shipped to Fresno with other valley exhibits. It is believed the consignment will be here by next week in time to be overhauled in dress-shipped to Dinuba for display there during the citrus fair.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Rice of Lindsay, who recently disposed of their orange grove near that place, left this morning for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will remain for some time. Their auto has been shipped to that place.

J. N. Young, ex-manager of the Pirata baseball team, left this evening for Toronto, Canada, and will bring back with him sixteen head of young mares, purchased by his brother-in-law, J. E. Agnew, recently. He will be absent about a month.

Dr. and Mrs. M. F. Grove are home from a pleasant auto trip of several weeks to San Jose and other places about the bay. They are accompanied by Visalia by Mrs. and Mr. O. W. Grove, the former a brother of the doctor. While in San Jose they attended the session of the Presbyterian synod as representatives of the local church.

Many left this evening for Tulare to attend the semi-annual convention of Christian Endeavor, which convened there this evening and will be in session all day tomorrow.

Detected By Court and Will Now Be Given Trial for Contempt of Court.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—Because he gave the "distress signal" of a secret society in court today, Adolf Muskovitz, plaintiff in litigation involving a small amount of money, was sent to prison for contempt of court. He was detected giving signs to the jurors and was asked for an explanation by Judge Kinsey. He informed the judge that the sign was that used by a secret order of which he was a member when assistance was needed in Muskovitz's favor he was taken into custody by order of the judge.

BUCKING THE TRUST

I have put prices down on Bicycle Goods and have had them down for about one year, and intend to keep them down so that the workingman of Fresno can afford to ride a bicycle to and from his work without it costing him his wages to keep it in repair. We offer you a good, first-class bicycle at a reasonable price, and sell it to you on payments that you can afford to make and not miss the money, and to make it still more attractive we do not charge you a cent of interest, just the regular price, that's all. We do all your repairs at cost on any bicycle you buy here. We do not tell you we will give you something for nothing, but we do give you a square deal.

On bicycles we sell we make a reasonable profit, but do not sell the junk with such an unreasonable large profit that we can afford to give you the repairs for nothing. We give you the services of first-class repair men at the lowest possible prices.

Mr. Bicycle Trust Butts In

MR. BICYCLE TRUST (a combination composed of some of the leading bicycle men of Fresno), invited Mr. Dougherty to attend a meeting composed of a bunch of would-be bicycle dealers, and informed him that they wanted him to get in line, but Dougherty is not in the business to rob the public and intends to run his business to suit himself. Some of the would-be dealers say "watch us get him," but remember they have got that to do, for we do more business in one day than they would do in a week if they would give goods away.

Meet one of these USE-TO-WASES, OR HAS BEENS, OR NEVER COULD BES on the street and you can tell him in a crowd on account of the look of distress he wears on his face. But this has nothing to do with the SNELL BICYCLE. Just bring in the old one and we will take it in trade on a new Snell. Pay a small payment down and $1.00 per week, and you have got your bike paid for before you know it. Here are a couple of specials that will make your mouth water:

WHO WANTS TO ADOPT 14-DAYS-OLD GIRL?

Secretary Harvey of Humane Society Has Nameless Infant for Adoption.

A nameless 14-days-old infant girl, strong and healthy, was placed in the custody of the Fresno County Humane Society yesterday. William Harvey, Sr., secretary of the society, stated that he is anxious to have the baby adopted into some good home, where the nameless infant will be surrounded by the best of influences. For obvious reasons Mr. Harvey withholds the names of the parents.

He did state, however, that about six months ago the society received the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of the father on a charge of desertion and failure to provide for his family. The warrant was not served, because the whereabouts of the father could not be ascertained, and are still unknown to the officers or secretary of the society.

The mother is now in destitute circumstances and for this reason she assigned the child to the humane society that it might secure a good home and be adopted. Those desiring to communicate with Mr. Harvey regarding the adoption of the infant may reach him at 905 S street, or phone Red 2091.

SOME ONE SWIPED SANGER PETITION

Supervisor Mitchell and C. A. Glogie Say They Did Not Have It on Trip.

Who has that last signed-up petition to the supervisors for the incorporation of Sanger?

The question is unanswered as yet. Supervisor Mitchell says he knows nothing about it. C. A. Glogie, who was supposed to have been the last man to have had the petition for presentation to the board on Thursday afternoon, says he has not had it. Mitchell also says he never had it and affirms that Glogie did not have it while he was in his company.

Mitchell and Glogie did start early on Tuesday morning from Sanger in Glogie's machine for Pine Ridge, expecting to be back in time to attend the board meeting for the hearing on the incorporation matter, both being in haste to get away. They were stuck all day nearly trying to make the Toll-house grade.

"I should like to know what has become of that incorporation petition," said Mitchell yesterday. "Sanger was just one of it off and kept away with so that there could be no action on it."

PUBLIC RECEPTION FOR LA FOLLETTE

Fresno to Honor Wisconsin Insurgent.

Great Interest Taken in His Address Here Tuesday Evening.

The coming of Senator Robert M. LaFollette to Fresno, has created a great interest among his many admirers in Fresno. He has come decidedly into the limelight of late because of his conflict with President Taft and Speaker Joe Cannon.

The entertainment committee of the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices LaFollette comes to Fresno, has decided that because of his national reputation, he is entitled to more than ordinary recognition and so has appointed a group of prominent men to serve as a reception committee. The committee thus appointed consists of Mayor Rowell, chairman; A. L. Hobbs, Chester H. Rowell, M. B. Harris, G. W. Cartwright, George W. Jones, Judge H. Z. Austin, J. W. Short, J. L. Anderson, Chandler Henry, Dawson, A. Y. Liden and A. M. Drew. This committee will meet at an early date to determine the character of a reception to give Senator LaFollette. In view of the fact that he is to lecture at the Barton on Tuesday evening, it is not likely that any elaborate plans will be made that will overtax his strength.

In all America there is no stronger man than Robert M. LaFollette. He has spoken upon representative government hundreds of times. Again and again he has addressed the same audience on the same subject. The principles are as old as the struggle for liberty. The reasoning is the same, but the address of LaFollette is different. He brings with him the vital facts of the present hour and full of human interest, which centers about the men who are in the thick of the great fight for government by the people. Eloquence has for its highest object the triumph of justice, of justice, of right. Earnestness born of a deep conviction in the everlasting righteousness of the cause presented is the basis of Mr. LaFollette's commanding position upon the platform, and which holds him in the heart of his state people.

The entertainment committee wishes to urge all season ticket holders to reserve their seats at the Barton today, so as to avoid the rush which is expected on Monday and Tuesday. The committee also announces that there are a number of season tickets still on hand and may be secured at the opera house or at the association.

SELMA FRUIT CO. MAKES EXPLANATION

Finding of $50,000 in Patent Suit Made By Mastery in Chancery; Still Being Fought.

Editor Republican—In your communication in this morning's paper regarding the suit between the Consolidated Seedling Raisin Company and Chadlock & Co. we note that your correspondent states that a judgment for $50,000 was rendered against the Consolidated Seedling Raisin Company. The Consolidated Seedling Raisin Company has never yet secured a judgment against the Selma Fruit Company, as the latter has never been up before Judge Wellborn for decision. The master in chancery, Henry H. Hahn, Esq., turned in his findings to the court, but the Selma Fruit Company took exception to his findings and the case has not yet been decided. Immediately on the granting of the injunction against the Selma Fruit Company, the latter, using the Pettit patent, the company put into operation the Elliott Seeder, and have used the same continuously to date. We desire that you publish this to the public, as a wrong impression is created by the reading of the article of this morning in so far as it relates to the affairs of the Selma Fruit Company.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—With the score tied in the ninth, Heitmuller of the Philadelphia Athletics drove the bat far over left field fence for a home run, scoring Baker and Davis and winning the game for the Athletics, 6 to 3. Los Angeles succeeded in getting eight hits off Coombs, while Koestner let the Athletics down with six, three of which were made in the ninth. Score:

LOS ANGELES..... 3

HAS KUHN CHANGED HIS MIND AGAIN?
HANFORD, Nov. 5.—From all appearances, Walter Kuhn, the State League catcher, who had signed to work with the Hanford team, has gone back on his word and will not be in the team in its battle with the Fresno Tigers next Sunday. When Kuhn left Hanford last Wednesday, it was with the understanding that he would bring his wife from the Bala City and taking up his residence in Hanford, would coach the local club this winter, filling the position behind the bat with the Hanford club.
It is now reported that Kuhn has gone to Imperial Valley with several other State League players. The management of the Hanford team is making an effort to secure Captain McDonough of Fresno and Catcher Bert Stahauge of the American League, who is now visiting Overall in Visalia.

VANCOUVER MEETS STANFORD 15 TODAY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 5.—The last match which the Stanford varsity will play before meeting California November 15th in the inter-collegiate rugby game will be called at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the Cardinal football team will meet the Vancouver team in the second time. On Wednesday the northerners were defeated, 56 to 0, but tomorrow's game probably will be much closer, Stanford being weakened by the loss of Crawford, the big forward, and Thorpe, who is replaced by Woodcock and Hubbard.
On the other hand, Vancouver will be strengthened by the presence of Moffatt, who was kept out of the game by injury, and will have Sharpe, a member of the Barbarian club, on the three-quarter line.

NEVADA FIFTEEN AGAINST U. C. TODAY

BERKELEY, Nov. 5.—The Rugby fifteen of the University of California and the University of Nevada will meet tomorrow what promises to be one of the most interesting contests of the present football season. The Nevada men have been remarkably successful, defeating both the Barbican and Olympic fifteens, which made good showings against the California fifteen, and the Reno team is not lacking in confidence that it will be able to take the measure of the Berkeley players.
The Nevadans are much lighter than the Californians, and the rain today, which has made California field very heavy, will work against them, as their speed will be impaired. The lineup of the California team has not been announced, but it is believed that a strong fifteen will be put in.

Manager Roger Bresnahan of the Cardinals announces that he will take thirty-eight men on the spring training trip South. Of the new men twelve are pitchers and the remainder divided about equally between in and out fielders.

JOHNSON WILL WHIP JEFF IN 6 ROUNDS

So Says Clever Black Champion, Himself—Buys New Automobile in Detroit.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Jack Johnson returned yesterday from Detroit in a big new blue and cream colored automobile which he purchased in that city and says he is much pleased with his purchase. He claims he can go seventy miles an hour "anywhere."
"I've been fined in nearly every town I've been in for speeding," he remarked with mingled pathos and pride in his tone, "and I don't think it's right. I've never hurt anybody yet."
Johnson's expensive smile was his chief response when the statement credited to Jeffries that he would stop Johnson in six rounds was repeated to him.
"Maybe the bout will end in six rounds," he said, "but Jeffries has picked the wrong man as winner."

JOE WILLIS TO FIGHT IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5.—Thirty-four rounds of boxing fills the night card, which is to give entertainment for the fans at Metropole pavilion next Tuesday night, and the way the heavyweights are training for the bouts gives promise of lively action. Both Geyer and Joe Willis are putting a good deal of ginger in their preparation for the ten-round bout, and the fans should get some real excitement.
Willis has shown such good form in the north, where he fought several creditable battles, that he is a slight favorite over Geyer. Jack's excellent showing against Battling Johnson last week was a revelation, however. In the fans, and there are many who believe Geyer will hold his own against the San Francisco pug.
Willis worked hard yesterday, boxing nine rounds, using Fritz Frey, Fred Corbett and Young Oaks as sparring partners. At Venice, Geyer put in a full period, going on the road in the morning and exercising in the afternoon at the Archde gym.
Gene McGovern and Young Pico, aspiring heavyweights, were yesterday matched to appear in the curtain raiser of six rounds. The prelin boys are all working in good style, and should be in fair shape by the end of the week.

ATHLETIC GOSSIP

Joe Tinker, Cub shortstop, may play with the Cincinnati Reds next season.
Jack O'Connor, the Brown's new manager, was born in St. Louis forty years ago and has played professional ball since 1887.

Pitcher Walter Riddle, who was on the coast game yesterday, won the opening game for Indianapolis against the Havana, Cuba, team.
It is learned on good authority that the $10,000 purse offer from Calumet for the Jeffries Johnson fight is principally bogus. Any way it showed the country that there was such a town on the map.—Bakersfield Echo.

Umpire McGreary, who is the best umpire the Coast League ever had, will not be with the league next season, according to his own statement. He left for Denver last evening on his way East and declares that he will not work for the Coast League again.—Los Angeles Times.

"Fearless" Blake, on a Merkal, defeated A. Ward, an Indian, in a motorcycle race yesterday morning at the Coliseum course. About 500 people saw the contest and $200 was wagered on the race, with Ward as a favorite. The race was for ten miles and Blake won by a lap on the three-lap board track.—Los Angeles Times.
Rings Raymond, the New York Giants pitcher, drew $2200 salary last season but paid $1700 fines.
A Battle Creek German who bet on Pittsburgh just before Hans Wagner is a German and was on the team, won $25 for his belief that German braven would win out.
The Cleveland Americans are forbidden to play winter ball by their management.
Johnny's greatest ambition is to head a pennant-winning major league team for five years and eclipse the record of contemporary managers of four years, now held by Manager Clarke of the Pirates. Anson, Hanlon and the late Frank Selee each won five pennants.

FOUR NEW MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL MANAGERS SELECTED FOR SEASON OF 1910

Although the curtain of the baseball season of 1909 has been pulled down, our national pastime still continues to occupy considerable space in the daily chronicle of sports. Training camps are being selected for the teams, many deals are being contemplated, and within the last couple of weeks four major league clubs have selected new leaders to pilot their clubs during the season of 1910. Jimmy McAleer has been chosen to lead the Washingtons next year, and the fans in the capital are sure that the former leader of the St. Louis Browns will pull them out of last place. St. Louis fans are jubilant over the fact that President Hedges has signed Jack O'Connor to handle the Browns in 1910. As O'Connor is a hustler and a good field general, many critics are of the opinion that he will make good. The Chicago Americans have signed Hugh Duffy to pilot the White Sox next season. Duffy has spent a lifetime in baseball, and President Connelley is of the opinion that the new leader will surely fill Fielder Jones' shoes. Brooklyn fans are quite certain that Bill Dahlen, the Superbas' new leader, will prove to be an aggressive leader and be able to land the team in the first division.

JUDGE M'CREIDIE HAS A GRIEVANCE

Owner of Portland Coast League Club Says He Will Have Portland Man in Power.

PORTLAND, Nov. 5.—Judge W. W. McCreddie, congressman-elect from the second district of Washington and owner of the Portland teams of the Pacific Coast and Northwestern baseball leagues, states that when he attends the meeting of the Pacific Coast League in San Francisco November 13, he intends to present the name of a Portland man for president of the league to succeed J. Cal. Ewing, who has announced his retirement.

Judge McCreddie says that the league directors have power to reverse all acts taken by the president and if the Portland man does not give satisfaction, the California club have control. He added that he would contend for two clubs in Portland, as has been the case the past year.
Judge McCreddie says that he intends to retire from the bench before he leaves for the South and that after the league meeting he will go from San Francisco to Washington to take the oath of office as representative in Congress when that body convenes in December.

If the Box Isn't Green It Isn't a PUCK.

PUCK
THE BETTER THAN 5¢ CIGAR
with the Havana taste
Puck is the first five cent cigar that the makers ever talked about. There's a difference between talking about a cigar and around it. PUCK is made in the way that will stand describing—it's a real long filler, well made cigar, in two, different imported shapes. It will burn freely because there are no stems to check the fire and start it burning unevenly. The wrapper is Sumatra, grown in the tropics under the sun where it can ripen and get the delicate, exquisite flavor of tobacco from the far Eastern Islands. Remember that there's a difference in five cent cigars and the best way to learn about a PUCK—the experience is worth more than five cents.

ENORMOUS FLIGHT OF DUCKS ARRIVE

Firebaugh Preserves Filled With Birds—Many Hunters Going Over; Bradley Predicts Rain.

According to a message received from Firebaugh yesterday by L. O. Stephens, president of the Raisin City Club, the largest flock of ducks that has been seen on the Firebaugh preserves this year, has alighted there. The ducks came from the north yesterday.

Immediately upon receipt of this information, Stephens communicated with other members of the club and a party will leave this morning at 10 o'clock for the Oxbow preserve. Other parties are planning on going Sunday and Monday and it is expected that all will have better luck than they did on the opening shoot of the club this year.
"We are going to have rain within the next three days," said Jim Bradley yesterday when he learned of the arrival of the northern birds at Firebaugh. "For the past eight years I have watched and I have yet to find the time when a big storm did not follow just three days behind a big flight of ducks which came from the north. More in my word, we will have a storm within three days."

The Visalia Times says Lou Maize, the Pirate pitcher, and Dashwood, catcher, have received an offer to play at McKittick this winter. Maize says he can work at intervals for a stated sum and expenses for each game. Dashwood has been offered a job and will probably accept.

Members of the Cleveland team have been requested not to play winter ball by the owners of the club.

HILLS CLEARED OF BRUSH FOR EVENTS

Spectators May Witness Motorcycle Hill Climb from Points of Vantage Tomorrow Afternoon.

In preparation for the proposed motorcycle hill climb at Riverview on the San Joaquin tomorrow afternoon, under the auspices of the Fresno Motorcycle Club, Manager Dave Ash of the summer resort has cleared the brush from the hillside extending from the river. During the week two men have been engaged in clearing the undergrowth and the various machines as they climb the steep incline may be seen from any point at the bottom of the hill.
Heretofore the large amount of brush has obstructed the view of the spectators who remained at the starting point. When the motorcycles start their way up the so-called "cow path" tomorrow, those who are fortunate enough to make the trip to the river will be enabled to see the riders and machines from the time the starters pistol cracks till the uppermost point of the hill is reached.
Manager Ash is contemplating the removal of additional brush on the hill for the use of automobiles in proposed hill climbs for the four-wheeled machines later in the season. The 45 per cent grade is said to be one of the best tests of the ability of an auto or motorcycle in Fresno county and the Riverview hill promises to develop into the scene of many hill climbs before the winter is over.

CHICKEN DINNER.
Members of the Fresno Motorcycle Club are enthusiastic over the contests scheduled for tomorrow, commencing at 1:30 o'clock. Before the hill climb, a chicken dinner will be served at the club house, owned by Mr. Ash. Small prizes will be at stake in the event to follow the big feed. The trophies have been purchased by members of the F. M. C.

THE ENTRIES.
Those who have signified their intention of attempting the hill climb are: Ed Wrought, Henry Slay, Ben Arkell, Theo. Johannson, Harry Cogburn and George Woods, mounted on twin-cylinder machines; Hans Jacobson, Bert Caughell, Ray Falkenstein, Chris Sorenson and Martin Lowers on single-cylinder bikes. There will be tandem contests also, the entries carrying female companions on the rear seat of the machines. These entries will be held on the wagon-road and not on the "cow path" which is too steep to permit the carrying of two passengers to the top and return without danger of a mishap.

TIGERS VS. DARTMOUTH.

BRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—The Princeton football team today went through a long signal drill in preparation for the game with Dartmouth tomorrow. The coaches realize that the local eleven will have to be at its best in order to defeat the strong Dartmouth aggregation.

YALE VS. BROWN.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—Yale will not use its strongest team in the game with Brown on Yale field tomorrow. The veteran backs, Murphy and Philbin, will start the game, but will not play at all unless Yale is in danger of being defeated.

CORNELL VS. HARVARD.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5.—Members of the Cornell football squad received warm welcome from the Harvard gridiron warriors when the Ithaca squad arrived here today. Tomorrow the two big teams will meet in the stadium for their first football battle in twelve years.
Light secret practice was given the Harvard squad in the stadium. Leslie will be at left halfback in place of Corbett, the latter having been out, following a game, for over a week on account of injuries. Except left tackle, where Hooper will be in place of McKay, all the positions will be filled by regulars.

DE ORO WINS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Alfredo De Oro, holder of the three-cushion billiard championship, defeated John W. Daly of Chicago in the third and final game of their series tonight, scoring 150 points to Daly's 118. Daly, saying that he had obtained information that De Oro used a ball unauthorized by the referee in the first game, has served notice of a protest, which is to be decided later.

Today's Games On Eastern Gridirons

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Four games of football to be played on Eastern gridirons tomorrow will turn up more color than any yet seen this season. The present status and future hopes of the leading colleges in the sport. Cornell plays Harvard, Dartmouth plays Princeton, Yale plays Brown, and Pennsylvania faces Lafayette. Yale's record has been consistently clean and its powerful offense will be difficult to smother. Dartmouth, having beaten Harvard in past years, is no longer faced with uncertainty by any of the big feet, while this year Princeton is not to be beaten.

Cornell, too, is in hard luck and the same with Harvard is not expected to develop the latter's true form as it will show against Yale. Pennsylvania, in Lafayette, faces a team that has defeated Princeton. The red and blue, however, counts on winning without difficulty.

FRESNO VS. VISALIA.
For a second time this season, the football eleven of Fresno and Visalia high schools will clash this afternoon. The Visalia gridiron will be the scene of the struggle. The game will be a stubbornly fought from start to finish, as both teams are confident of victory and the southern school is out for blood, inasmuch as the purple and gold squad won the opening battle on the local checkerboard field. For the past three or four years, Visalia has been winning the annual games with the local eleven. The 1932 Fresno team is the best in years and Captain Crawford is confident of going through the entire season without a reverse. In today's game the squad will be assisted by a large delegation of rooters from Fresno. The students under the leadership of Everett Hickman, yell leader, will accompany the footballers on the 8:55 Express train this morning. Tonight a dance will be given by the Visalia school for the visiting eleven and the rooters. The local contingent will return tomorrow forenoon.

PENN. VS. LAFAYETTE.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—In preparation for what is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season, with Lafayette tomorrow, the University of Pennsylvania football team had light practice today. TIGERS VS. DARTMOUTH.
BRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—The Princeton football team today went through a long signal drill in preparation for the game with Dartmouth tomorrow. The coaches realize that the local eleven will have to be at its best in order to defeat the strong Dartmouth aggregation.

YALE VS. BROWN.

CORNELL VS. HARVARD.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5.—Members of the Cornell football squad received warm welcome from the Harvard gridiron warriors when the Ithaca squad arrived here today. Tomorrow the two big teams will meet in the stadium for their first football battle in twelve years.
Light secret practice was given the Harvard squad in the stadium. Leslie will be at left halfback in place of Corbett, the latter having been out, following a game, for over a week on account of injuries. Except left tackle, where Hooper will be in place of McKay, all the positions will be filled by regulars.

DE ORO WINS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Alfredo De Oro, holder of the three-cushion billiard championship, defeated John W. Daly of Chicago in the third and final game of their series tonight, scoring 150 points to Daly's 118. Daly, saying that he had obtained information that De Oro used a ball unauthorized by the referee in the first game, has served notice of a protest, which is to be decided later.

The Most Perfect Study of Invincible Egotism In the Language

MRS FITZJOHN'S ENEMY

BY ELLEN THORNEYCROFT FOWLER

It is strange that some people should be born to the lot of martyrdom, but so it appears to be. Certain persons, through no fault of their own, are placed in an environment entirely repugnant to all the natural qualities with which they are endowed, and so life becomes to them one prolonged torture.

Such is my own case. Endued with an innate refinement, which is an inherent part of my very being, I have always lived among persons of dull perceptions and common, not to say coarse, tastes. Thus all that they said or did jarred upon me to such an extent that my existence became one long and dreary martyrdom.

It was so with my own relations. It is so with the man I married. Neither they nor he has ever had any idea of how they have daily tortured my whole nervous system by the crudeness of their thoughts and the vulgarity of their conversation. I am like a musical person always condemned to listen to instruments that are out of tune, or like a true artist ever compelled to look upon low caricatures or common prints. No one except myself has any notion of what my sufferings have been. Sometimes I am inclined to curse that refinement of nature and delicacy of perception which set me apart from my fellows to such a marked degree, and then again I repent me and feel that it is better to be as I am, however miserable, than to be as the people among whom I dwell.

Common, alas, as my surroundings have ever been, I have nevertheless endeavored so to touch them with the light of my own superior refinement as to transform them to a certain extent into something which appears, even if in reality it is not, higher and better than themselves. For instance, my maiden name was Smith, but I invariably spelled and pronounced it "Smythe," so as in some slight degree to mitigate its inherent commonplaceness. In the same way I insisted on my husband's changing his surname before I married him from Johnson to Fitzjohn, which really means the same thing, and yet it sounds so much more gentlemanlike and poetical. Also I took to calling him James instead of Jacob (although he was baptized Jacob), since these likewise are but variations of the same name in different languages. And I have a particular objection to Scriptural names, as they always seem to me to savour of non-conformity, and to my mind there is something very inelegant in nonconformity and something very aristocratic about the Church of England. I have tried to explain this to James, but he cannot understand it at all. It is in matters such as this that the difference between my refinement and his vulgarity is shown.

And this is the reason why I always say that poor, dear grandpapa was a clergyman, although James, in his common way, invariably tries to dispute it, so I generally manage to bring it in when he is not listening. I am perfectly aware that poor, dear grandpapa did not agree with all the doctrines of the English church, nor was he quite, quite one of them, as our dear vicar is, for instance. But this is my idea of keeping the fifth commandment, and, besides, there is a Latin proverb which says one should never speak anything but good of the dead.

I find, too, that to call chapel church and dinner lunch does so add to the finish and refinement of life and yet costs nothing. And it is in little things such as this that real good breeding is shown. Yet James would hurt me to all the world in his rough, uncultured way (if I were not at home to stop him) that was both attended a dissenting chapel in our youth and that we still dine in the middle of the day. How can one comport oneself in a truly ladylike manner when one has a husband like that, always dragging one down to his own level? At least, I should rather say, trying to drag one down, for nothing will ever induce me to share James' plebeian and underbred habit of invariably speaking the truth.

My parents both died when I was quite a young infant, and poor, dear grandpapa brought me up. I cannot remember either papa or mamma, but I feel sure I inherited my good breeding and intense refinement from mamma, whose father was a professional man in one of the most aristocratic suburbs of London. It is from mamma's family, too, that I inherit my long nose and small hands and feet—all sure signs of noble birth. Poor, dear grandpapa's nose turned up, and he took tens in ready made boots!

My life with grandpapa was one long torture owing to my superiority to all my surroundings. Both he and grandmamma grained upon me at every turn, they had such hopelessly plebeian ideas and habits. Then I met James, who fell in love with me and asked me to marry him. His uncle was a member of poor, dear grandpapa's church, and it was when James (he was vulgarly called Jacob in those days) was staying with his relatives that he met me and became attached to me.

There was then a season of terrible indecision on my part. On the one hand, there could be no doubt that there was no prestige about poor James and that marriage with him would mean the deathblow of all my dreams of once more regaining my position in the class to which by birth (through dear mamma) I rightly belonged; but, on the other hand, grandpapa, in his coarse way, had always made it clear to me that his stipend would end with his life and that his small savings would be sunk in an annuity for grandmamma, so that there would be no provision at all for me after his death and I should then be compelled to either starve or to get my own living.

Now, to my mind, there is something very degrading to the idea of a woman's making money by working for it. The mere thought of such a thing shocks all my innate culture, so I decided that of the two evils it would be the lesser one to marry a well-to-do tenant farmer than to wound my delicate and sensitive nature by earning my own bread.

Of course in those days I dreamed—ah, how vainly!—that continual contact with a thorough gentleman such as myself would tend to elevate poor James' mind and to refine his character, instead of which he has merely laughed at my innumerable little elegancies and has maintained the same uneducated boor that he was when I first married him.

It is now some years since grandpapa died, and grandmamma did not long survive him, so that I have severed all ties with that disgusting little manufacturing town where I was born and bred. I have also entirely separated myself from my only surviving relative, Ebenezer Smith, my first cousin on papa's side. He married a woman still more common than himself, and they have settled in Manchester. I have reason to know that he believes me to be no more, and I trust this belief will continue, as I could not endure to have vulgar relations following me down here, where I have succeeded in making a certain position for myself by attending the weekly sewing party at the vicarage and by subscribing, in company with half a dozen other ladies, to a box of improving literature from Stud's. I also make a point of always wearing black silk in an evening, with one white camellia in my hair, and I have had dear mamma's fine collection of engravings reset in the latest fashion. How true it is that one can always tell a real lady by her dress!

And now for the incident which formed the one bright spot, the one oasis, so to speak, in the otherwise commonplace and uninteresting desert of my married life.

I was sitting alone at my fancy work one afternoon, as I always make a point of doing whenever household duties may be done or left undone. I think there is something so essentially refined in doing fancy work after lunch. It gives visitors the impression of such perfect gentleness. I remember on that particular afternoon I was engaged in spreading maidenhair ferns out on a piece of white linen and then sprinkling the intervening spaces with ink spotted from an old toothbrush. It was a most artistic effort and in before me as I write, in the shape of a sliding banner across with a border of bright green fringe.

Well, I was absorbed in my work, having always been distinguished by great taste in the arranging of ferns and flowers, when suddenly my parlor maid (I always call her a parlor maid, although she is the only servant we keep, but James, I regret to say, coarsely refers to her as "the slavey") took me by surprise by flinging open the drawing room door and announcing Lord Courtprobate!

"I Must Beg You, Madam, to Pardon This Intrusion."

"Any one could have knocked me down with a feather, for, although my antecedents were all so very superior, I had, strange to say, never yet exchanged words with a person of title."

But his lordship put me at my ease at once with that courtly graciousness which is ever distinctive of the upper classes when they are conversing with their equals.

"I must beg you, madam, to pardon this intrusion," he began, "and to permit me to explain my reasons for intruding upon you as a call from one who has not yet had the pleasure of being introduced to you."

"Granted," I at once replied. "Pray, your lordship, be seated."

"Not while you stand," he returned, with the most beautiful bow I have ever witnessed.

"I believe I have the honor of addressing Mrs. Fitzjohn," he continued after we had each taken a seat, which was, however, not a rapid process, as I was so flabbergasted at this unexpected event that I sat too much on the edge of my chair, so that it overbalanced, and I should have fallen had not his lordship promptly flown to my rescue, supporting me with the utmost grace while he restored my chair to its rightful position.

"That is my name," I replied—"wife of Mr. James Fitzjohn of Onkeleigh Farm."

Lord Courtprobate bowed even more exquisitely than before. "So I have been led to believe, madam; hence my presence here uninvited."

By this time I had so far recovered myself to be able to take in the details of my noble guest's appearance. He was middle aged—in the case of a less entitled personage one would almost have said elderly—with the most dignified and gentlemanlike carriage and manners that I have ever come across. He seemed a very personification of Burke's "Peers and Landed Gentry" and all the ideas which the mere titles of those distinguished volumes suggest to one's imagination.

"But before we begin our little chat," I interrupted, "will not your lordship take something—say a glass of sherry wine and a biscuit?"

"Alas that I am compelled to decline your most kind hospitality! But, gosh, my dear madam—gosh is an enemy that has to be humored."

I thought it so nice and friendly of Lord Courtprobate thus to take me into his confidence with regard to his (evidently hereditary) delicacy. It showed that he instinctively recognized that I was the sort of woman with whom he was accustomed to make friends. Yet James never perceives that I belong to a class higher than his own. I suppose that, on the principle of "set a thief to catch a thief," it requires a real gentleman to recognize a real lady when he meets her.

"I grieve," I said, "to learn that your lordship is a sufferer from so distressing a complaint as gout. But members of old families, as I know by experience, are liable to these hereditary diseases. It is the price we have to pay for blue blood. In my case, however, it is not gout, but bilious headaches that are the curse of our family. I have heard that my poor, dear mamma was a perfect martyr."

His lordship smiled most agreeably. "In my case, madam, I fear it is old port rather than old blood that has done the mischief. But to return to the reason for my intrusion upon your privacy—I heard that your maiden name was Smythe."

"Pardon my name before my marriage was Smythe."

"Indeed, I was told that you were a granddaughter of the late Elizabeth Smith, pastor of the Congregational chapel of Mudford."

I was greatly annoyed. Who had dared thus to take up my past history and retail it to this delightful and aristocratic old gentleman? It was too bad!

"My poor, dear grandpapa was a clergyman," I said, somewhat stiffly. But in the midst of my mortification I was filled with thankfulness that James was not present. There is no knowing what he might have said.

"Indeed, then I fear I have made a mistake, for which you must blame my informant rather than myself. I was told that the late Elizabeth Smith has only two descendants now living—a grandson, Ebenezer, residing in Manchester, and yourself."

"I am afraid I cannot give you any information regarding such persons," I said. "For I make it a rule not to mix myself up with dissenters and people of that kind. They always grate upon my somewhat fastidious taste."

"Then I can only renew my apologies for troubling you at all," replied his lordship, rising from his seat, "and assure you that I did so under a misapprehension."

"Trouble is a pleasure in this case," said I, with the utmost suavely. "Pray do not mention it, but make yourself at home, I beg of you, and let us continue our most agreeable little chat. It is quite a treat for me to meet with any one who moves in high circles, as I am literally buried alive here. With the exception of our dear vicar's family and the curate and his wife, there is no society."

And then Lord Courtprobate sat down again, and we had a most charming conversation about the giddy throng among which he moved when in London. He had been, it appeared, a lawyer in his younger days, so we got on capitally together as soon as he found out that my maternal grandpapa had also been a professional man. It was the shortest afternoon I ever spent. Alas, what a martyrdom for a woman fitted for such society as that of Lord Courtprobate to be compelled to pass her days in the ungenial society of an uneducated person like James!

"I was born near the manufacturing town of Mudford," his lordship happened to mention in the course of conversation. "Do you know it at all, Mrs. Fitzjohn?"

"I once visited it in my maiden days," I guardedly replied. He evidently belonged to the gentry of the surrounding neighborhood, and I would not for worlds have let him know that I had ever had any connection with Mudford chapel.

"Then you may have come across Mr. Smith, the minister of the chapel there some years ago," his lordship went on, to my surprise. I had no idea that persons of his quality knew about nonconformity.

"I remember hearing his name," I replied, even more guardedly than before.

"He was a wonderful preacher, a most wonderful preacher, and, I think, the kindest hearted, most generous man I ever met."

"Indeed," I replied somewhat coldly, since, for my part, I had never quite forgiven grandpapa for sinking his savings in grandmamma's annuity and so compelling me to couple my lot with the plebeian one of James. Nevertheless I could not but feel that it was highly condescending of my visitor to refer to him in this way.

"Yes," Lord Courtprobate continued, "he was a most generous man and certainly gave far more out of his comparative poverty than do most men out of their overflowing abundance. No one ever appealed to him for help in vain. And I hear that he took his youngest son's orphan child and brought her up as his own, sparing no pains or money on her education, although he had to deny himself to do this, while her mother's father—a well-to-do person, a chiroprapist by profession—declined to have anything to do with the girl or to contribute in any way toward her maintenance."

How thankful I was that I had so carefully concealed my identity! What would my distinguished visitor have thought of me if he had known that I was the unfortunate orphan who had thus been basely maligned to him? Again I offered up a silent thanksgiving that James was not present. But all that I said aloud was:

"It is most generous of your lordship to speak in such kind terms of an individual so humble as the Rev. Smith of Mudford. As for me, I pride myself upon holding no communication with dissenters. Perhaps your lordship is not aware that my husband is the vicar's churchwarden in this parish, and I consider that public men and their wives cannot be too careful in avoiding everything which might lay them open to misconception."

Lord Courtprobate's eye obviously twinkled, and I perceived that with difficulty he restrained a laugh, although I confess I could not see that I had said anything specially witty or clever. But I was evidently a more brilliant conversationalist than I had supposed, and again I sighed to think how my conversational powers were wasted upon James, who always maintains that I am destitute of any sense of humor. It evidently requires a cultured gentleman, such as Lord Courtprobate, to appreciate my special sort of humor, which is of a far higher and more subtle type than that which serves to amuse poor James and his friends.

After some more delightful conversation, which I flatter myself was as congenial to my guest as it was to me, Lord Courtprobate departed, leaving me even more dissatisfied with my lot than I had been before I had the pleasure of making his charming acquaintance. Having seen for myself how admirably I was fitted to shine in the highest circles, I found it harder than ever to put up with the coarse garrulities of James!

To my surprise, I never saw my dear friend Lord Courtprobate again. Considering what an impression I had evidently made upon him, I should have naturally expected him to renew the acquaintance. But he did not, which proves that his bodily health must have been too delicate to admit of his indulging in those social pleasures for which his intellectual nature craved.

About two years after our memorable interview my noble friend died, and, to my great disappointment, his survivors omitted to send me even a funeral card, thus leaving me to learn the sad news from the papers, as our ordinary acquaintance might have done, a piece of inconsiderate carelessness on their part which gave me a shock from which it took my sensitive nature some months to recover.

But there was a still crueler disappointment to follow. Not long after my dear friend's decease—before, in fact, I had properly recovered from the shock of his death—James looked up from his paper one morning at breakfast and said:

"I say, old girl, here's some news that will interest you about that old fogey who called to see you a year or two ago, Lord Courtprobate. I dare say you remember the old cove."

Remember him, indeed! And I had never let a day pass without referring to him and to his friendship for me since last we met.

"Of course I remember him, James," I replied, controlling my voice as well as I could, since James' rough opening of the still recent wound upset me not a little. "He was my dearest friend."

"Well, he doesn't play up to the part, I must say," my husband brutally continued, not seeing that such careless handling of tender and sacred memories was absolute torture to my deeper and more refined feelings. "For he has left two-thirds of his large fortune to your cousin, Ebenezer Smith, and the remainder to charities, as he was a whitower with no surviving relations."

"To Ebenezer?" I gasped. Surely James must be going mad. "Yes; I've just been reading a very interesting article on him in the papers, and I said to myself as I was reading it, 'This will surprise the wife above a bit!' It appears that when he was quite a lad—he was a self-made man, you know—Ebenezer Smith of Mudford lent him the money to start in life, though, being only a minister, he couldn't very well afford it, and old Courtprobate (Sam Tanner for this that he made up his mind to leave most of his fortune to Smith's descendants.)"

"Good gracious, what a tale!" I cried. And James went on: "Tanner repaid the money as soon as he could, but by the time that he had made his name and fortune at the bar he had lost sight of the Smiths of Mudford altogether. I suppose by that time your grandfather was dead and Ebenezer had moved to Manchester. Besides, Tanner was raised to the peerage as Lord Courtprobate and had a wife and son to provide for."

"And where are they now, I should like to know?"

"Can't say—they're dead," answered James, with one of his vulgar grins. "And so, when he found himself left alone in the world again, Lord Courtprobate set about searching for your grandfather's descendants so that he could make them his heirs and thus show his gratitude to his early benefactor."

"Well, I never!" I gasped. I literally could not say any more.

"But I must say," continued James, "that I think it was too bad of the old chap to leave it all to the Ebenezers and not to think of you, for you were as much your grandfather's grandchild as ever Ebenezer was, and old Courtprobate had made friends with you into the bargain. But for pure injustice give me a judge."

"Lord Courtprobate cared for me for my own sake," I replied. "He never knew that I was the granddaughter of the Rev. Smith."

"Then he ought to have known. He ought to have found it out. If he could find out that Ebenezer was old Smith's descendant he could have found out that you were. And, besides, Ebenezer would have told him if he'd had any proper feeling."

"Ebenezer does not know that I'm alive," I said. "I have cut myself off so completely from him and all his vulgar circle that I have reason to know that they believe I am no more."

James smiled me on the back in that rough way of his that I detest. "Well, never mind, old girl; money isn't everything, and, though I can't help wishing that old fogey had done the fair thing by you, you still never miss his fortune nor want for anything as long as I have the health and strength to work for you."

"Of course money is not everything," I replied, shaking James' heavy hand from off my shoulders. "The fact that I enjoyed Lord Courtprobate's friendship is far more to me than all his money. But what I cannot understand is why he left his money to Ebenezer and his wife and not to me when it was I who was his friend. Somebody must have misled me to him and set him against me, but who could it have been?"

James looked puzzled. "Exactly. Who could it have been?"

"I don't think it could have been the Ebenezers, because they believe I am dead, and they haven't seen me since I was a girl, and they used to be very fond of me then. No, though they are vulgar people, they are never ill-natured. In fact, I consider their overdoing good nature toward everybody as one of the signs of their ill breeding. The truly refined can always make themselves disagreeable."

"Well, my girl," said James, "whoever has done you this ill turn is the worst enemy you ever had. But goodness knows, for I'm blent if I do, who on earth it could have been!"

"As you say, James," I replied, "it is an enemy who has done this thing, and I trust that be or she, wherever it may be, will be rewarded according to his or her deserts. But who it can have been I have not the faintest shadow of an idea."

And I have never been able to find out to this day.

LAC-JAC DISTILLERY BURNS, 250,000 GALS. WINE LOST

Damage Placed At $60,000, Partly Covered By Insurance—Reedley Citizens Save Storage Buildings—Operations To Be Resumed

Fire last night burned down the distillery building of the Lac-Jac winery, a mile and a half from Reedley, destroying 250,000 gallons of wine and causing a total loss of $60,000. This is partly covered by insurance. The people of Reedley and the town fire department went to the rescue of the winery, and by heroic efforts confined the flames to the one building. The office and two large storage buildings were saved. Manager Paul Samuels stated last night that new machinery would be ordered at once and the winery would shortly resume operation. The origin of the fire is not definitely determinable. Flames were first seen about 7:30 o'clock and at that time the fire had worked its way to the roof. Oil was being used as fuel and it is supposed that the fire is traceable to this quarter.

The distillery was a large frame structure, 60x100 feet, and stood between two large storage buildings, with sufficient space intervening to make it possible by hard work to confine the flames to the structure of their origin. A large water tank and frame in connection with the building was also destroyed. Attracted by the blaze, the blowing of whistles and other signals of distress, the Reedley volunteers ran to the scene of the fire, and worked until nearly midnight to save as much of the valuable plant as possible. Paul Samuels, the resident manager, at midnight estimated the loss to be $60,000, which sum includes a loss of 250,000 gallons of wine, mostly this year's vintage. He stated that insurance was carried, but was unable to give the amount. He is already preparing an order for new machinery and hopes to be in operation again this season.

PRICE OF RAISINS JUMPS. UP TO 11-2 CENT MARK

Offers At That Figure Made By Consolidated Packers Are Met By Giffen & Co.; Growers Continue To Hold Goods

Another jump has been taken by the raisin market. This time it has been established itself at 11-2 cents and with but few if any raisins to be had at that. Judging from the new purchases that are being made the 5-cent mark is now in sight and may be reached within the next two or three days. And strange to relate the market is being boosted upward by the consolidated packers—they who just a few short weeks ago were asserting that there was no demand for raisins and who were offering to pay 2 cents just for the sake of the "poor grower." But it is all changed now. The sweet tooth of the Eastern consumers seems to have developed to an alarming extent within the past two weeks or so and the "consolidated" are still out in the field with their offers of 11-2 cents and without a requirement that 20,000 tons must be secured to insure that figure. But with as equal eagerness as the development of the Eastern's sweet tooth has come the realization to the grower that his raisins have some value. As a consequence but few growers are being made and the field agents of the "Big Five" are having a difficult time of it "delivering the goods."
